Inside | Real news, curated by real humans Global China Center | Analysis Dr. Xin opens with a brief, concise, and very helpful Protestant history of Christianity in China, especially in the 20th century, when the indigenization movements led by men like Wang Mindgao, John song, Watchman Nee, and the theologian Jia Yuming laid a foundation for today's house churches, and then collided with the state-sponsored Three ... House church (China) - Wikipedia Others suggest the need to discard the "house church" vs. "TSPM church" dichotomy as there is a lot that blurs these divisions, including the relationship between the two groups themselves. Moreover, as a result of the rapid urbanization of China since the 1990s, there has been a growing development within urban Christianity.
